Cultural Competency and Curricula Meeting

Do you think healthcare curricula should address the needs of diverse populations? Do you have ideas on how cultural competency should be addressed in healthcare curricula? Join us for a discussion!

Cultural competence is often seen as encompassing only racial and ethnic differences, omitting other marginalized population groups who are ethnically and racially similar to a provider but who are at risk for stigmatization or discrimination, are different in other identities, especially persons identifying as lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer/questioning (LGBTQ), or have differences in healthcare needs that result in health disparities.
