

Duke PRIME Post-baccalaureate Research Education Program (PREP)

Taking a gap year in 2023? Are you planning to apply to a graduate program or medical school? Considering a career in clinical research?

The Duke PREP program is a 12-month clinical research experience for college graduates taking a gap year before enrolling in a graduate program or health professional school. Eligible applicants include recent college graduates and students graduating by May 2023.

Highlights

- Work with Duke faculty to develop a research project
- Access to didactic curriculum on clinical research methodology
- Networking opportunities including lab meetings, group journal clubs, presentation of research findings at an Annual Symposium, and support to attend a National Meeting and present research findings.
- Access to Peer Mentors that can provide firsthand advice on what it takes to succeed as a graduate student today.

Quick Facts

- Students graduating in May 2023 are eligible
- Paid research experience with access to health benefits.
- 12-month program begins July 2023
- Application deadline is February 17, 2023

PRIMEPREP@duke.edu

PRIME PREP

Application deadline: February 17, 2023

Learn more & apply:

