WHAT IS IT?

Peer-Nominated recognition for demonstrating humanistic patient care

Members have a responsibility to model, support, and advocate for compassionate, patient-centered care throughout their careers.

- More than 180 chapters in medical schools and residency programs
 - 45,000+ members
 - Approximately 2,800 of these individuals have received Leonard Tow Humanism in Medicine Award

WHY IS IT IMPORTANT?

Be a role model in patient-centered care

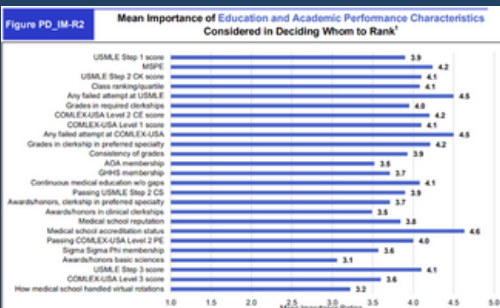

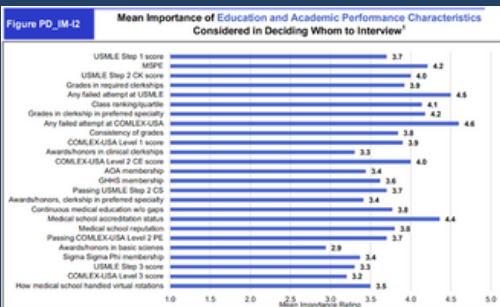

GHHS is highly valued by residency programs. It is a significant factor in deciding whom to interview and whom to rank.

Make yourself more marketable to residency programs

GHHS is highly valued by residency programs. It is a significant factor in deciding whom they want to interview and whom they offer positions to.

And...

- Scholarships available
- Service opportunities
- Leadership roles
- Annual conferences

GHHS membership incurs impact factors of 3.6 and 3.7 for residency programs deciding whom to interview and whom to rank.
