- February 29th 2024: Notification to applicants
- April 11th 2024: Annual Research Symposium

Purpose

To improve communication and encourage scholarly collaboration among all healthcare personnel in North Carolina. The full spectrum of research will be considered including basic science, case reports, reviews, clinical studies, experiments, and other scholarly works. The Symposium will have an emphasis on operational medicine and Family Medicine; however, abstract submissions from any specialty and all levels of training will be considered.

Application

How to Submit: Please submit an abstract of 500 words or less by 5:00 PM EST on February 08th 2024. Please fill out the attached ARS Application form and submit to usn.lejeune.navmedcencnclnc.mbx.nmccl-anr-symposium@health.mil Format for the Submission: Title, Author(s), Author affiliation, Background, Methods, Results, Discussion, and Conclusion.

If the work requires, you may use another format. No figures, tables, or images should be used in the abstract. By convention, abstract word count does not include Title, Author(s), and Author affiliation. All authors must be identified by name, rank or title, position. Non-provider authors are required to have a provider sponsor. All authors which are included on the submission must review the submission and be included on the application submission email. The use of the English language is expected.

You are required to disclose any funding, prior presentations of the same content, conflicts of interest, and any scientific or ethical oversight. If there are no disclosures, please include the following statement at the end of the abstract: The authors have no disclosures to report.

Notification: Submissions will be considered for podium presentation or poster based on the content of the abstract. More generalizable medical information and information that relates more to operational concerns will be prioritized for podium presentation. You may state your preference in your submission, but final selection will be made by the contest coordinators. You will receive acknowledgement of receipt of your submission and a reply regarding your acceptance on or around February 29th, 2024.
