

Christian Studies
College of Arts & Sciences

Annual Biomedical Humanities Lecture Series

Sponsored by the Staley Foundation presents

Dr. Devan Stahl

Scholar, Author, Podcaster, Dr. Stahl will be giving two different lectures

Tuesday, October 1, 2024 at Campbell University

Come to this annual event and explore the intersection of bioethics and theology.

3P LECTURE – BUTLER CHAPEL

Imagining and Imagining Illness: Finding Meaning in Medicine through Fine Art

Based on her book, discussing how might the humanities, and fine art in particular, open up ways of seeing the body and the patient as person that do not contradict but deepen knowledge gained through the medicine and medical imaging.

7P LECTURE – BUTLER CHAPEL

Wondrous Monsters: What Anomalous Bodies Teach Us about God

People with anomalous bodies have existed from time immemorial. Come join us listen to Dr. Stahl on how might early modern debates surrounding the meaning of so-called “monstrous births” inform contemporary understandings of disability, ethics, and even the nature of God.

CONTACT US

 www.campbell.edu

 @cu_bhum

 36 T. T. Lanier St
Lillington, NC 27546